CLASS PROPHECY

It is the year 1961. just 20 years to the day since the illustrious class of '42 passed from the portals of old Paw Paw High, and the neon reds and blues are blazing brightly. The searchlights are sweeping the sky, for tonight the metropolis of the Midwest, Paw Paw, Michigan, is premiering the most stupendous motion picture since "Gone With the Wind," "Follies of 1961," produced by Jerome Abrams, the czar of movie magates, who makes more money a year than a United States Mint, and who rescued golf from oblivion; and directed by Kenneth Jewett, the megaphone manipulator who brings the rocks, rills, and wide open spaces direct to the audience. Mildred Danger, who recently revolutionized the art of photography by taking pictures backward, ground the camera, (while Dorothy Jane Conner whipped up the slightly Adrian creations which grace the stars). They are Jane Brown, who sang her way onto the screen via technicolor television; Ruth Schnoor, the proud possessor of an Oscar and a Bette Davis diction; Bob Blocker, whose cheer-leading act created a new laugh sensation; and John Rankin, the strong, silent hero, no longer silent. The story is taken from one of the ten best-smellers of the year written by Elfriede Schnoor, who expects to write the great American novel in the very near future.

We are ushered to our seats by the dual winners of the "Miss Usherette" contest, Phyllis Duff and Mary Greene. Among the celebrities surrounding us are: the American successor to Mme. Curie, Mil. Ruth French, the discoverer of ex-radium; and the ace of positively the last World War, Edward Carrington, who still takes off in pursuite plane; the play boys of Paw Paw, Keith Ketchum and Burton Colburn, resplendent in tux; with Dick White of Broadway and all points West, in white tie and tails; Marianne Dillon, called the "Wham Girl" because she strikes you between the eyes and wham!; the new Brenda and Cobina of radio fame, Alice Carlson and Catherine Moran, whose platinum tresses match the rings on their fingers; preparing to run for mayor on the Democratic ticket, Bill Woodman gets some pre-election publicity by nonchalantly entering with five blond

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1941, being sound of mind and body, kind in heart, dignified in manner, and cream of the intellect, do hereby bequeath the various articles obtained by four years of hard work to different people of various classes of this school.

I, Jerome Abrams, leave my place as Paw Paw High's best golfer to Bill Cutting.

I, Patricia Anderson, will my excellent typing speed and ability to all future typing students.
I, Bob Blocker, leave to Russell Hindenach my great studious ways during first hour study-hall.
I, Jane Brown, bequeath to Virgil Areaux, my heart.

I, Vilas Buckley, leave my remarks of wisdom to Tom Lambert.

I, Ed Butus, bequeath my football suite to Jim Glidden and wish him luck.

I, Alice Carlson, after learning a few new words in Mr. Pigott's English class, bequeath my gift of gab to Arlene Scott.
I, Ed Carrington, leave my many packages of gum to Miss Nyland.

I, Burton Colburn, leave my Ford to the junk yard, where it will feel right at home.

I, Marialice Coleman, leave my striking hair dress to any bush tribe that wants it.

I, Dorothy Jane Conner, will my popularity with the teachers to Patsy Racette.

I, Alfred Crampton, leave my trait of throwing sarcastic remarks to any junior who wants to be popular(?) in class meetings.
I, Jack Crook, leave the lamp-posts untouched to the city of Lawton.

I, Mildred Danger, leave my flaxen locks to Lorene Mielke.

I, John Diljack, leave my ability in civics class to some lucky junior.

I, Marianne Dillon, leave nothing behind; I'm taking Tom Kroth with me.

We, Phyllis Duff and Mary Greene, leave our everlasting companionship and flirting abilities to Charlotte Wilker and Doris McGuire.
I, Margaret Fiocchetti, Leave my jolly, good nature to Peg Smith.

I, Ruth French, leave my little trait of losing and misplacing basket-ball tickets to anyone it fits.
I, Ed Gladysz, leave as an inspiration to all future agriculture students, my great ability in that field.
I, Barbara Goens, leave my cooking ability to all future home economics students.

I, Mary Huey, will my great sewing ability to Margaret Dansby.

I, Ann Hustafa, leave my great interest in Milton to all future English Literture students.
I, George Jacher, leave my basketball ability to my brother.

I, LeRoy Janssen, leave what it takes to be President of the Honor Society to some lucky junior.

The Junior Class of the Paw Paw High School for this past year has been chiefly concerned with the program of raising money to put on the annual J-Hop in honor of the Seniors. The projects of this program have been sponsoring two shows at the local threatre, two bakesales, putting on a dinner for the 4H Clubs and selling concessions at the Basketball games. We have sponsored three dances, "The Sweater Dance," "The Pep Dance," "The Junior Jump," and we have also had a successful Junior Play.

In all the projects we feel that we have been very successful. This is due to the splendid cooperation of the class as a whole and the consul of Mr. Hackney, our advisor.

CHARTER

In January of 1941, a new organization, the Paw Paw High School Honor Society, was created to take the place of the National Honor Society representation in our school. This society is composed of members of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, who must be nominated by ten per cent of the student body on a scholarship basis of a "b" average or a "C" average with endorsement of all their teachers; also they must be nominated on the merits of the following qualities of a good high-school citizen: dependability, cooperation, honesty, kindness, promptness, school pride, unselfish service, courage, tolerance, and self reliance. Then the names of the nominees are presented to the faculty, who ultimately elect the members.

Membership of this society is for one semester only; however, after one semester of work completed in Paw Paw Senior High School a student may be elected any number of times.

The general aim of the Honor Society is to be a working organization to give aid to the school and the individual student. In doing this the members hope to build up the scholarship, leadership, and cooperation within the student body so that it will be a democratic organization of students with a definite sense of civic responsibility.

To help the society get started with a sense of good fellowship the faculty gave a banquet on January 23, 1941 in honor of the charter members. Ten members of the faculty gave short discussions on the ten qualities needed in a good high-school citizen. This affair encouraged the new society to aspire to great things during the first year.

The first formal meeting was held January 24, 1941, at which time the officers were elected and several standing committees were formed. There was a committee on school improvement to concern itself with measures for improving the appearance of the school, a home room committee to look into the home room problem in connection with student feelings, and also a noon hour committee to work out a satisfactory noon hour program. These numerous committees have done some splendid work and expect to carry it on during the coming year.

As the organization progressed, new committees were added. In order that several chapel programs might be presented to the student body a chapel committee was formed. The last two committees to be added to the society are a social committee to help with the social activities of the school and a reception committee to greet sophomores, new students, and student teachers next year.

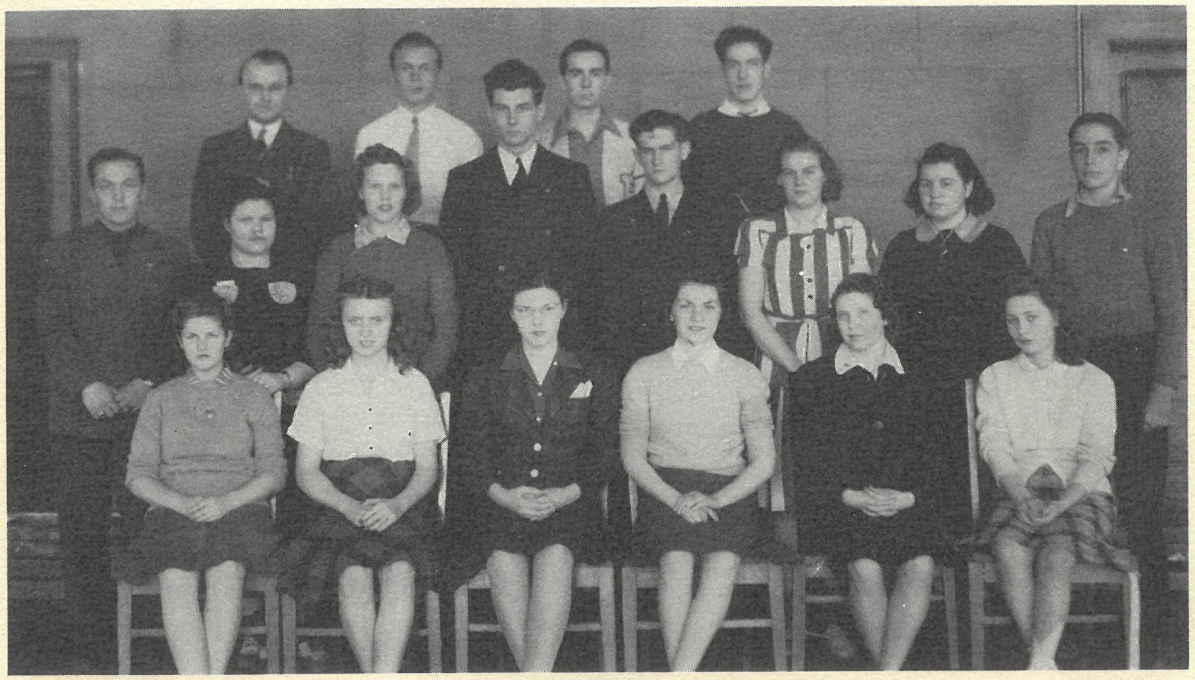
WAPPAW

First row-E. Schnoor, D. J. Conner, J. Abrams (business manager), W. Woodman (editor), R. French, R. Schnoor.
Second row-F. Racette, J. Bolinger, R. McNabb, T. Maciejewski, D. Schallhorn, J. Brown.

With this issue Wappaw completes its third year of existence as the yearbook of Paw Paw High School. Each staff has profited by the experiences of those who went before, and each year a sincere effort has been made to improve the quality of the yearbook.

It may be interesting to know that the name Wappaw was borrowed from a newspaper published by Paw Paw High School about 1920.

PAW-PRINTS



First row-B. Lee, C. Wilker, J. Cleveland, M. Dillon, D. Lawson, M. Gleason.
Second row-R. White, A. Soule, M. Greene, R. McNabb, J. Glidden (editor), P. Duff, E. Whisler, W. Dayton.
Third row-Mr. Pigott, T. Maciejewski, W. Woodman, J. Griesmaier.

The journalism class, under the leadership of Mr. Pigott, publishes the Paw-Prints. The paper comes out every two weeks. They sell them by yearly subscriptions to the student body and teachers, and by semesters to the student teachers.

This school paper started several years ago. The students, however, just wrote up the news and the town paper published it as a part of theirs. About four of five years ago the Journalism Club began to put out a paper every two weeks. They sold it by the copy for three cents each. Two years ago a journalism class was started. So today we have a large group putting out a paper.

The paper is a lot of work. The articles are just written up by the class members, then typed on dummies, censored, and proof-read, typed on stencils by the advanced typing class, and last but not least, mimeographed.

The journalism class in their two year history have already put out one person who is working toward being a newspaper man.

This year proved to be an outstanding year for the Paw Paw High School Band which is just in the second year of its organization. It has become one of the most active organizations in the school, having participated in 25 events during the part school year.

Playing in competition with 15 other Class "C" high school bands, our band was awarded a first division rating in the District Band Contest held at Kalamazoo, and later a second division rating at the State Contest held in East Lansing.

The climax of the year came in February when we received 45 new band uniforms purchased at a cost of $1400. They are of balck whipcord material trimmed with gold lacquered buttons, red double-breasted front and white citation cord.

On Tuesday, March 11, the band presented its First Annual Anniversary Concert in the High School Auditorium before a large appreciative audience. On this program, Patricia Anderson, solo clarinetist of the band, was awarded a Solo Chevron, the highest band award possible, for her performance of a very difficult clarinet solo.

Second row-Mr. Loiko, J. Glidden, F. Starr, K. Braybrooks, C. German, C. Johnson, W. Cutting.
Third row-W. Woodman, A. Crampton, L. Dunham, E. Gladysz, T. Maciejewski, V. Areaux.
Fourth row-J. Abrams, K. Weatherwax, K. Holcomb, H. Weatherwax, R. White, F. Grehl, D. Conolly.

Edward Carrington	President
Burton Colburn	Vice-president
Robert Blocker	Secretary-treasurer

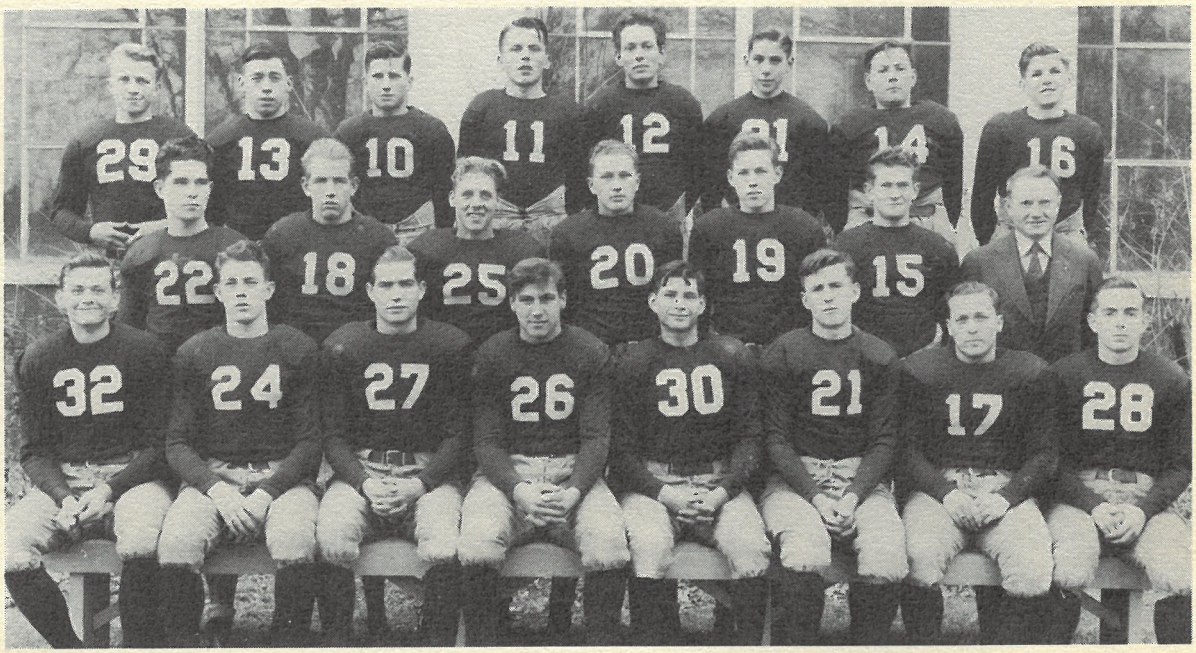
The Letter Club completed an active and successful year in promoting school activities this last year.

The club, to show their gratitude to Mr. Emmert, entertained him at a banquet before he left on a leave of absence.

Through the cooperation of the club and through the backing of Mr. David Kribs and Mr. Alex Loiko, an all-school party was given. The highlight of the party was a scavenger hunt.

The club was organized in 1925 by Mr. Emmert and includes anyone who has won a letter in any sport.

FOOTBALL



First row-E. Carrington, B. Colburn, K. Weatherwax, F. Starr, A. Crampton, E. Butus, R. White, W. Woodman.
Second row-A. Johnson, H. Weatherwax, F. Grehl, L. Dunham, A. Emery, J. Glidden Mr. Emmert.
Third row-C. German, G. Reits, E. Gladysz, K. Braybrooks, R. Burns, F. Pugsley, R. Hindenach, J. Wilder.

The Redskins bettered a three-year record this year in football, although the results were not exceptionally good. Paw Paw won their last game and tied two.

The team as a whole was light and inexperienced but were willing to learn, as shown by their last games played.

After losing games to Niles, Watervliet, Otsego, South Haven, and Hartford, the redskins, having tied Bangor in their previous meeting, tied Bangor in their Homecoming Game, 0-0. The Redskins surprised the Class B Allegan team in the last game of the year by winning 7-0; Kyle Weatherwax, senior, made the winning touchdown.

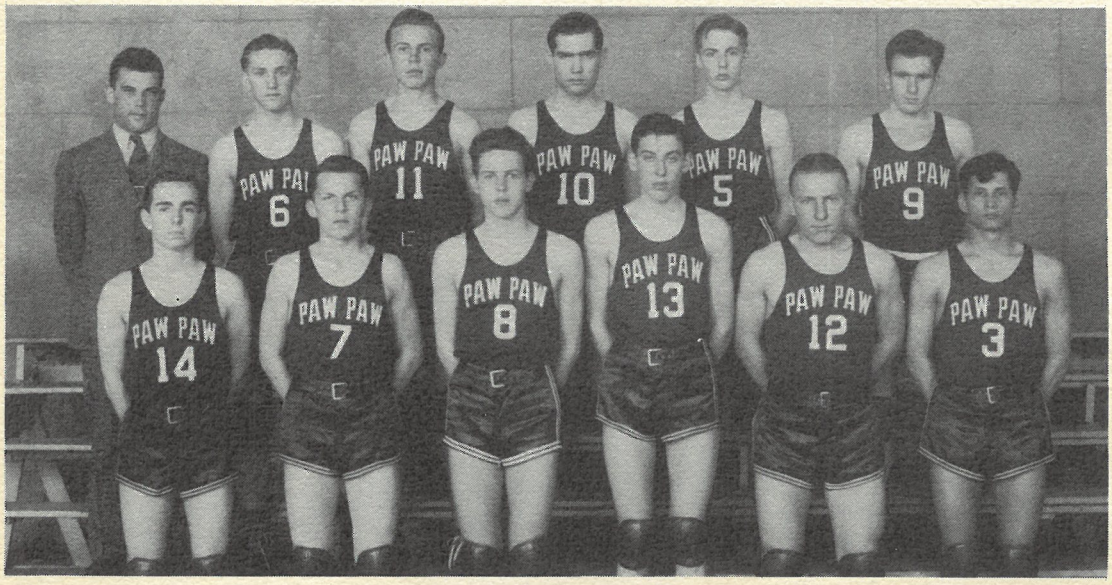
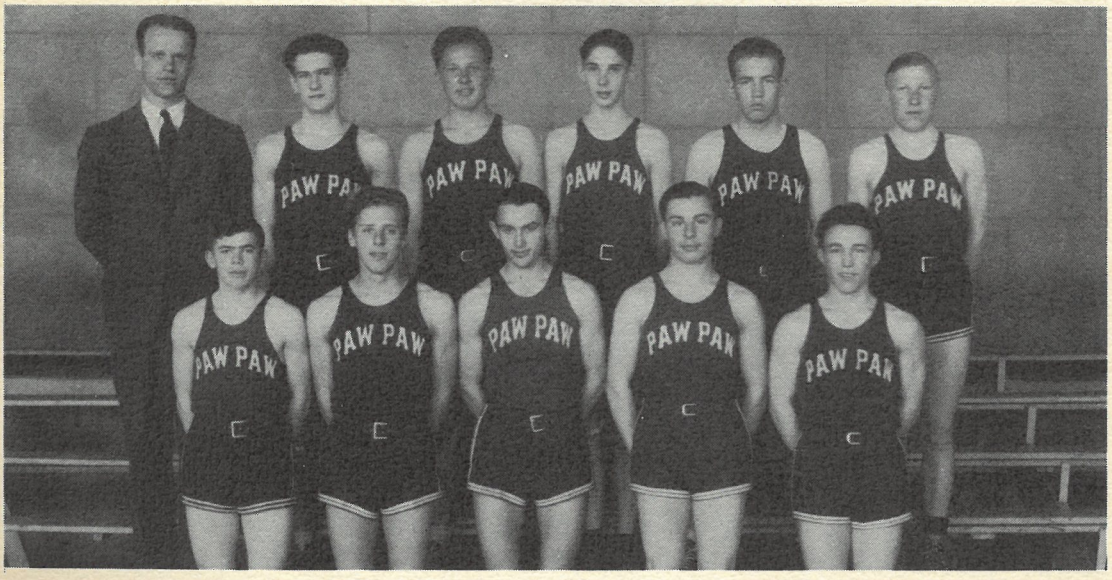
BASKETBALL



First row-W. Woodman, K. Braybrooks, A. Emery, H. Hinckley, G. Jacher, A. Crampton.
Second row-Mr. Kribbs, V. Areaux, T. Maciejewski, K. Weatherwax, C. Johnson, R. Blocker.

BASKETBALL RESERVES



First row-R. Reits, F. Grehl, J. Grudecki, J. Duhan, H. Mearing.
Second row-Mr. Loiko, J. Glidden, L. Dunham, F. Pugsley, H. Weatherwax, S. Jacher.

GOLF

First row-J. Abrams, F. Racette, R. Abrams.
Second row-W. Cutting, E. Gladysz, K. Braybrooks, L. Williams, R. Hindenach, H. Hinckley, Mr. Hackney.

Burton Colburn and Keith Ketchum tied for third with 42½ points. Other members of the squad who scored over 25 points are Grehl, Maciejewski, Carrington, and Glidden.

The golf team, organized two years ago, had a decided off-season this year.

Coach Clarence Hackney had only letter-men Bill Cutting and Jerome Abrams returning from the successful 1940 team.

Paw Paw dropped their first match to Allegan by the close score of 5½-6½. They proved to be easy prey for the strong teams of South Haven and Otsego. Allegan downed Paw Paw in their second meeting, 5-7, Abrams making 3 points. Otsego again upset the Redskins in their second meeting.

Bill Cutting played as No. 1 man while Jerome Abrams played No. 2, with Harold Hinckley, Kenneth Braybrooks, and Felix Racette alternating as No. 3 and 4 men.

Paw Paw is the only Class C school in this area playing golf; therefore they must play class B schools.

Paw Paw looks forward to a successful season next year, as they are becoming more experienced and lose only one regular, Jerome Abrams, by graduation.

girls; from the West to wiew the city lights are gentlemen farmers Edward Butus, George Jacher, John Diljack, and Edmund Maciejewski. Just as the curtain rises Margaret Pohly, Paw Paw's number one glamor girl since 1941 sweeps down the aisle -- late as usual and surrounded by a crowd of adoring swains.

First are the advertisements of the business houses of Paw Paw. Margaret Fiocchetti urges you to visit her Beauty Salon, where she guarantees to make you beautiful in thirty minutes and no money-back guarantees. We find that the A & P store is still under the management of a Gladysz, Edward. Norma Scotese, owner and manager of the Spaghetti House, says there is no better food in seven states and we believe her. Francis McDonald is used to hearing pretty girls giggle "The Butcher Boy," for he owns and operates the Northside Butcher Shop; while go-getters Leland Thomas and Kyle Weatherwax run the town with their super-service station. In the Apple Blossom Tea Room Mary Huey and Anna Hustafa serve coffee

I, Ken Jewett, leave my play-boy qualities to Keith Holcomb.

I, Carl Johnson, leave to unfortunate brunettes my blonde hair which has kept its fascinating color for so many years.

I, Keith Ketchum, leave my baby shoes to all those who have admired them.

I, Dorothy Lawson, leave my constant chattering and babbling air to my sister, in case she runs down.

I Lydia Luckstein, leave my retiring nature to Virginia Gancer.

I, Edmund Maciewjewski, leave my brother to carry on the good old family name.

I Francis McDonald, leave my shyness with the ladies to anyone--good riddance!

I, Catherine Moran, bequeath my silly laughter to betty Ann Outman.

I, Margaret Pohly, will my artistic ability to Felix Racette.

I, Verna Potter, leave my girlish blushes to Audrey Dennis.

I, Barbara Rankin, bequeath my stomach capacity for numerous and unlimited hamburgers to "Wimpy."

I, John Rankin, bequeath my fondness for the ladies to Bob McNabb.

I, Wanda Rogowski, leave my graceful dancing feet to Margaret Dansby.

on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and cocoa on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

There is a roll of drums and from the rip-roaring technique we know it is Dorothy Schallhorn, honorary drumroler of the U. S. Army Band. The newsreel brings us several more noted alumni of Paw Paw High. In the news are LeRoy Janssen, three times President of the P. F. A. (Past Farmers of America), Who says its more fun that the F. F. A; Jack Crook, the smiling Warden of Van Buren County's new penitentiary (What's in a Name?); Vilas Buckley as the harmonica soloist of the Paw Paw Philharmonic, which played the Grand Canyon Suite in its Natural habitat; and the lucky winners of the Scottish Sweepstakes, Dorothy Lawson, Lydia Luckstein, and Doris Smith, who plan to sail the South Seas in their private row boat.

Highlights in the sports news gives us Pat Anderson, the brunette Alice Marble and winner of the world famous Davis cup, by force of her swift and unpredictable backhand. Carl Johnson, who pitched a no-run no-hit game for the Tigers in the last game of the World Series, gets a slap on the back from grinning manager Al Crampton. Prominent American horsewoman, Doris Anne Van Antwerp, is back in the news with Cotton III, twice winner of the Santa Anita handicap, who has just taken the cup at the Del Mar Track.

Kathleen Roller, soft-spoken editor of Chic, the new fashion magazine which is running neck and neck with Vogue, is guest editor of the woman's page and brings several ex-Paw Pawians to the screen. There is Barbara Goens, whose Monday morning recipe hour is said to have a radio audience of 2,000,000 women, and her famous "Slam Cake" which won't rise unless the oven door is slammed shut. Here too, are Verna Potter and Barbara Rankin, co-operators of the Secretarial School for Social Security, who have helped the Paw Paw business men elect a "Miss Secretary" and placed the crown on the curly head of none other than Wanda Rogowski, chosen by the Misses Rankin and Potter for her ability and by the men for her ah-dimples. Then the Irish slapstick of Marialice Coleman, who proved to an incredulous world that she could raise fifteen children as cheaply as one, and she said she was Irish!

To the Silver Screen of the Strand Theater comes the most stupendous movie ever released, "Follies of 1961", produced by--oh, pardon us, this is where we came in.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Kathleen Roller, leave my lofty height to Marguerite Gleason.

I, Dorothy Schallhorn, leave my drum to my sister; may she cherish it as have I.

I, Elfrieda Schnoor, leave my violin to my little sister, may she too fill the house with squeaks.

I, Ruth Schnoor, leave my position on the debate squad to anyone prone to argue.

We, Norma Scotese and Doris Smith, leave the effort it takes to plow through shorthand to a future stenographer in next year's senior class.

I, Leland Thomas, leave my clashing ways to no one--they are too valuable.

I, Doris Anne Van Antwerp, leave my athletic ability and extra vim and vigor to "Little Orphan Annie."

I, Kyle Weatherwax, leave my cleverness of unnoticeable slipping into dreamland in civics class to Ward Pohly.

I, Dick White, leave my well-known heel-plates to anyone who truth-fully believes he can make more noise.

I, Bill Woodman, bequeath my glamorous profile to Harold Stoughton.
